

THE GREENER HAND SANITISER

HAND SANITISER

Hand sanitiser is the biggest necessity of our times. Before coronavirus, the world produced about 300,000 litres of it; this is less than a thousandth of what we are producing today!

If everyone in the world had one small bottle of sanitiser we would need 385 million litres of this stuff. With the most popular sizes being 50 and 100ml, can you imagine the amount of plastic bottles produced and discarded around the world?!

THE PLANET CALLS + EDAMAME ECO

The Planet Calls and Edamame Eco partnered with the local Irish distillery to bring you the Greener version of the hand sanitiser.

We offer hand sanitisers in 5L bulk packaging that you can refill with bottles that you already have or one of our beautiful reusable silicone bottles.

You can have these bulk hand sanitisers at home or at work, and refill your individual silicone bottles with hand sanitiser, carry them with you and use them time and time again!

BRANDED SILICONE BOTTLES

Silicone is awesome - it's derived from sand (basically oxygen and sand), and made from natural material. It doesn't use fossil fuels in the production.

It's durable, and more ocean-friendly than plastic. It lasts longer, and stands up better against heat and cold than plastics.

When burned, silicone reverts back into its harmless ingredients: amorphous silica, carbon dioxide, and water vapor (unlike plastic which releases toxins when burned).
